The Department for Continuing Education may occasionally wish to collect images (both photographs and video recordings) of its activities, including lectures, tutorials, seminars and social events. These photographs and video recordings may be used by the Department for Continuing Education and the University for the promotion of their educational activities.

I hereby grant to the Department for Continuing Education and Oxford University the right and permission to take, hold, use, and publish photographs and video recordings in which I appear in printed or electronic media, including the internet, for advertising and promoting educational activities. I understand that if I no longer want a photograph in which I appear to be used, I can contact [insert contact details] to request that it be removed. However, I accept that it might not always be possible to remove all existing copies from circulation.

Please tick this box if you do not wish photographs and video recordings of you to be used as described above.
