Overview

FINANCIAL TECHNOLOGY, or FinTech, refers to a spectrum of technology innovations and startups that demonstrate disruptive potential in applications, processes, products, or business models in the financial industry. As FinTech continues to develop and evolve, providing solutions to more facets of the financial industry, it faces a more traditional problem: balancing consumer protection with innovation. Unlike other areas of technology, FinTech requires a certain degree of fiduciary duty to their users - bringing questions of regulation, security, and compliance to the forefront.

The George Washington University’s Center for Law, Economics, and Finance is holding the FinTech Forum Silicon Valley at Plug and Play in Sunnyvale, California on Wednesday, September 21st, 2016 to bring together industry leaders, academic experts, government regulators, and legal scholars in the heartland of innovation to discuss the issues that arise in the search for such a balance. The Forum is co-hosted by Plug and Play and co-sponsored by Morrison & Foerster and White & Case.

Event Sponsors
Agenda

8am: Registration and Continental Breakfast

9am: Welcoming Remarks
Speaker:
Neil Ruiz, Executive Director, GW Center for Law, Economics, and Finance

9.15am: Plug and Play Overview
Speaker:
Scott Robinson, Vice President, Plug and Play Fintech

9.25am: The Current Regulatory Framework
Speakers:
Obrea Pointdexter, Partner & Co-Chair of Financial Services Practice Group, Morrison & Foerster
Kevin Petrasic, Head of Global Financial Institutions Advisory Practice, White & Case

10am: Keynote Address: Fintech Innovation and The Regulatory Landscape
Bill Tai, Kiteboarding VC & Silicon Valley Angel Investor

10.45am: Panel 1: The Challengers of Reconciling Innovation and Regulation
(See next pages for speakers and details)

12:15 pm: Lunch Keynote Address
Brian Brooks, Executive Vice President, General Counsel and Corporate Secretary, Fannie Mae

1.45pm: Panel 2: Legal and Practical Problems of Security in a Fast Moving Fintech World
(See next pages for speakers and details)

3pm: Panel 3: Who is the True Lender?
(See next pages for speakers and details)

4.15pm: Panel 4: Who should regulate? State or Fed?
(See next pages for speakers and details)

5.30pm: Closing Remarks
Speaker:
Neil Ruiz, GW Center for Law, Economics and Finance

5.35pm: Networking Reception
10.45am: Panel One

The Challengers of Reconciling Innovation and Regulation

Moderator: Rachel Witkowski, The Wall Street Journal

Patrick Pinschmidt, Former U.S. Dept. of Treasury Official & Executive Director of Financial Stability Oversight Council

John Beccia, Chief Compliance Officer & General Counsel, Circle

Alex Acree, Managing Director & General Counsel, Fenway Summer Ventures

John Muller, VP, Global Payments Policy, PayPal

Bruce Wallace, Chief Digital Officer, Silicon Valley Bank

Regulators and policymakers face a difficult balancing act. They want to protect both consumers and the greater financial system while allowing innovation to take its natural course. And contrary to expectations, sometimes innovators also seek out regulation to better understand the true conditions of their operating environment. Does regulation lend legitimacy to new technologies? What are some lessons learned by regulators that are being imposed on the Fintech forefront? How should the roles be assigned in developing standards and increasing interoperability? Should regulators take a proactive or a reactive role? What are some lessons and warnings to be taken from the international front?
1.45pm: Panel Two

Legal and Practical Problems of Security in a Fast Moving Fintech World

Moderator: John Biggs, East Coast Editor, TechCrunch

Michael McGowan, Managing Director, Stroz Friedberg

Patrick Murck, Fellow, Berkman Center for Internet & Society at Harvard

Nathan Taylor, Partner, Morrison & Foerster

Kevin Petrasic, White & Case

With each new development in Fintech, data becomes increasingly accessible. This accessibility comes at the cost - each new point of access creates another potential point of breach. How can Fintech companies find the balance between security and accessibility? What legal hurdles lie ahead? What is the role of regulators in finding such a balance? Who coordinates the international aspects of cybersecurity?
Fintech companies are quickly becoming serious players in the lending market. Whether lending through P2P platforms or other innovative methods, a partnership between Fintech companies and traditional banks are becoming common place. But to many, including the Supreme Court in Madden v. Midland Funding, this brings forth many questions: Which regulators oversee these new products? What state laws must these loans abide by? Where must the Fintech company be licensed? A major question must be answered in this relationship - who is the true lender?
Who should regulate? State or Fed?

Moderator: Heather Somerville, Technology Reporter, Thomson Reuters

Margaret Liu, SVP & Deputy General Counsel, Conference of State Bank Supervisors

Dana V. Syracuse, Counsel, Buckley Sandler

Joe Colangelo, Executive Director, Consumers’ Research

Jeffrey Manns, Associate Professor of Law, GW Law School

Fintech is expanding into new areas faster than regulation can provide guidance. New areas of Fintech - such as insurance, wealth management, online lending, payment systems, and blockchain security - raise questions of who the regulator should be, and whether it should be regulated on a state of federal level. Even more established classifications are subject to uncertainty. Recent developments, both domestic and international, may reclassify Bitcoin from its current status as a commodity. Amidst all this confusion, who should regulate?
Keynote Speakers

Brian Brooks
Executive Vice President, General Counsel, and Corporate Secretary, Fannie Mae

Mr. Brooks oversees the Legal Department and Government and Industry Relations. He serves as a senior advisor to the Chief Executive Officer and the Board of Directors.

Before joining Fannie Mae in November 2014, Mr. Brooks was Vice Chairman of OneWest Bank, where he served as chief legal officer and oversaw the bank’s fair lending, corporate customer experience, and mortgage marketing and communications groups. In that position, he advised executive management and the board of directors on legal, risk, and strategic issues; developed and implemented strategies to manage litigation and government inquiries; led deal teams for strategic transactions; and led the bank’s compliance with regulatory orders on mortgage servicing and foreclosures. Before that, Mr. Brooks was a Managing Partner at the global law firm O’Melveny & Myers, where he led an office of more than 150 attorneys, represented major financial services companies in a variety of litigation and enforcement matters, and played a lead role in crafting the banking industry’s response to the 2010–2011 foreclosure crisis.

Mr. Brooks has a bachelor of arts in government from Harvard University and a juris doctorate from the University of Chicago.

Bill Tai
Kiteboarding VC & Silicon Valley Angel Investor

Bill established CRV’s Silicon Valley presence and is a Partner Emeritus backing Scribd and Wish.com on CRV’s behalf.

Past Investor in more than a dozen startups that made it to public listing; Board Director on 7 of them as public companies.

Board Director at BitFury, Voxer and Treasure Data where he is Chairman. Among Lead Angels in Canva, Color Genomics, SafetyCulture, Shoes of Prey, Tango.me, Tweetdeck(Twitter), Zoom.us. Backer of Further Future and MaiTai Global.

Previously - VC at IVP; Founding CEO iAsiaWorks (IPO 2000 via Goldman Sachs); Founding Chairman iPinfusion (TSE:4813); World Economic Forum Tech Pioneer Committee
Adjunct Professor of Innovation, Curtin University
Sponsored Athlete in Kiteboarding

Work: Venture Capital
Education: Harvard MBA, BSEE University of Illinois
Panelists and Speakers Include:

Alex Acree
Managing Director & General Counsel, Fenway Summer Ventures

John Muller
VP, Global Payments Policy, PayPal

Bruce Wallace
Chief Digital Officer, Silicon Valley Bank

Patrick Murck
Fellow at the Berkman Center for Internet & Society at Harvard

Jeffrey Manns
Associate Professor of Law, GW Law School

Kathryn Haun
Assistant US Attorney & Digital Currency Coordinator, US Dept. of Justice

Dana V. Syracuse
Counsel, Buckley Sandler

Conor French
General Counsel, Funding Circle

Heather Somerfield
Technology Reporter, Thomson Reuters

Laura Shin
Contributor, Forbes

John Beccia
Chief Compliance Officer & General Counsel, Circle

Kevin Petrastic
Head of Global Financial Institutions Advisory Practice, White & Case

Margaret Liu
SVP & Deputy General Counsel, Conference of State Bank Supervisors

Jason Altieri
General Counsel, Lending Club

Patrick Pinschmidt
Former U.S. Dept. of Treasury Official & Executive Director of Financial Stability Oversight Council

Rachel Witkowski
Reporter, The Wall Street Journal
Speaker Bios

Alex Acree
Alex Acree is the Managing Director and General Counsel at Fenway Summer Ventures. Mr. Acree brings significant experience advising financial institutions and investment funds as well as senior leadership experience with early-stage companies. Previously, he advised financial institutions in issues ranging from reorganizations, capital markets transactions, Dodd-Frank Act implementation, corporate governance, and compliance issues at Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher LLP. In addition, he’s held financial modeling, budgeting, and business development responsibilities in a series of senior positions at early-stage companies. Mr. Acree received his J.D. from Yale Law School, his MBA from Yale School of Management, and a B.A. from Boston College.

Jason Altieri
Jason Altieri is Lending Club’s General Counsel. He handles all regulatory and legal matters with an emphasis on securities and banking. Prior to Lending Club, Jason was the General Counsel and VP, Partnerships for Corefino, Inc., an outsourced accounting solution and technology provider. Jason has also been a corporate partner for the international law firms of Mintz, Levin, Cohn, Ferris, Glovsky and Popeo P.C. and Sonnenschein Nathan & Rosenthal, LLP and he was an associate for over 9 years with Wilson Sonsini Goodrich & Rosati, PC. Jason was named Best Corporate Counsel, Private Companies by the Silicon Valley Business Journal and San Francisco Business Times in 2014. He holds a BA in Economics from U.C. Davis, an MA in International Relations and Public Policy (China emphasis) from U.C. San Diego and a JD from The University of San Francisco School of Law.

John Beccia
John Beccia is the General Counsel and Chief Compliance Officer at Circle Internet Financial. Prior to Circle, Mr. Beccia advised on bank regulatory, anti-money laundering, and corporate law issues serving as Senior Vice President, Deputy General Counsel, and BSA Officer at Boston Private Financial Holdings, Inc. He is also the Chair of the In-House Counsel Subcommittee of the ABA Banking Law Committee and serves on the Bank Secrecy Act Advisory Group at the U.S. Treasury Department. Mr. Beccia earned his LLM in Banking and Financial Law from Boston University School of Law, a J.D. from Roger Williams University School of Law, and a B.A. from Providence College.

John Biggs
John Biggs is the East Coast Editor at TechCrunch and an Advisory Board Member at TMM Industries. He is also the Founder and CEO of Freemit, focusing on bringing a streamlined alternative to traditional remittance and currency exchange systems. Mr. Biggs has also written for the New York Times, InSync, USA Weekend, Popular Mechanic, Popular Science, and Money. He also served as an Editor for a number of technology news outlets, such as Gizmodo, CrunchGear.com, MobileCrunch, and AOL. He received his M.A. from New York University and his B.S. from Carnegie Mellon University.

Joe Colangelo
Joe Colangelo is the Executive Director of Consumers’ Research, an independent educational organization striving to increase the knowledge and understanding issues, policies, products, and services of concern to consumers. Prior to joining Consumers’ Research, Mr. Colangelo was the Co-Founder and Head of Sales and Marketing at Golden Coast Mead, a beverage company based in San Diego, and a Senior Consultant at Booz Allen Hamilton, leading post-merger integration for commercial clients and conducting financial and market analysis for civil clients. He served in the U.S. Navy as a Naval Officer, serving as a Surface Warfare Officer aboard the U.S.S. Germantown and U.S.S. Harpers Ferry. He received his B.A. at the University of California, Berkeley.

Conor French
Conor French is the General Counsel at Funding Circle. Prior to joining Funding Circle, Mr. French served as CEO of Indego Africa, an award-winning global women’s empowerment organization which created employment opportunities for female artisans by connecting them to international markets and providing education in business management, entrepreneurship, and literacy. He also brings corporate experience from his time at Latham & Watkins. Mr. French is a Truman National Security Fellow and currently serves on the Board of Directors of NYU Law’s Alumni Association, the Board of Advisors of Indego Africa, and the State Bar of California’s Financial Institutions Committee. He received a J.D. from New York University School of Law and his B.A. from Georgetown University.
Kathryn Haun
Kathryn Haun is an Assistant U.S. Attorney and Digital Currency Coordinator at the U.S. Department of Justice, and a Lecturer in Law at Stanford University. Ms. Haun has investigated and prosecuted hundreds of violations of federal criminal law, with subject-matter expertise in cybercrime, FinTech, and the intersection of privacy and technology with security and law enforcement. She has managed complex investigations involving the FBI, SEC, Treasury, IRS, and a variety of other international, federal, and state bodies. Ms. Haun also designed and teaches Stanford Law School’s first-ever course on Digital Currency & Cybercrime. Previously, she clerked for U.S. Supreme Court Justice Anthony Kennedy, and was in private practice at Sidley Austin. She received her J.D. from Stanford University Law School and her B.A. from Boston University.

Oliver Ireland
Oliver Ireland is a Partner at Morrison & Foerster LLP. His practices focuses on retail financial services and bank regulatory issues, including consumer protection regulations, CFPB powers and initiatives, and all types of payment transactions. Mr. Ireland’s practice also includes regulatory issues applicable to bank and thrift holding companies, national and state charter banks, federal and state chartered banks, and federal and state chartered credit unions. Prior to joining Morrison & Foerster, he served as Associate General Counsel to the Federal Reserve Board. He received his J.D. from the University of Texas School of Law, and his B.A. from Yale University.

Margaret Liu
Margaret Liu serves as the Senior Vice President and Deputy General Counsel at the Conference of State Bank Supervisors. With her extensive financial services policy experience, Ms. Liu serves as a part of the CSBS legal and policy team, providing legal support for CSBS and its affiliated organizations as well as representing policy perspectives of state banking commissioners. Prior to joining CSBS, she worked as a consultant on financial services policy issues for clients in financial serves and housing finance. Prior, she served as Vice President of Single Family Mortgage Business, Vice President for Industry Relations, and Vice President for Policy Communications at Fannie Mae. She received her J.D. from the University of Chicago Law School and her B.A. from Harvard University.

Jeffrey Manns
Jeffrey Manns is an Associate Professor of Law at the George Washington University Law School. His teaching and research interests focus on securities regulation, financial institutions, and mergers and acquisitions law. Professor Manns serves a the Faculty Director of the Center for Law, Economics, and Finance (C-LEAF), where he oversees program development in business and finance law. He also serves as the Co-Director of the Business and Finance Law LLM program. Prior to joining the law school faculty, he clerked on the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit. He received his J.D. from Yale Law School, his doctorate from Oxford University as a Rhodes Scholar, and his B.A. from the University of Virginia.

Michael McGowan
Michael McGowan is the Managing Director of Stroz Friedberg and leads their AML & Compliance Technology Assurance services. During his time at Stroz Friedberg, Mr. McGowan has been resolving questions involving electronic data by applying digital forensics, statistical analysis, and investigative skills for over 12 years. He is an active consultant, regularly briefing executives, auditors, boards of directors, and regulators. Mr. McGowan has also testified on numerous occasions for both the government, notably as an expert witness in the Enron Barge trial, and private entities such as Facebook. He is a Certified Informations Systems Auditor, and received his B.A. from the University of Chicago.

John Muller
John Muller is the Vice President of Global Payments Policy at PayPal. Mr. Muller has witnessed the evolution of payments firsthand, with extensive executive experience in the industry. Before rejoining PayPal, he served as Vice President of Global Payment Policy and Vice President of Legal at eBay, General Counsel at PayPal (as the company’s first lawyer), and Of Counsel and Partner with the Financial Services Group at Brobeck, Phleger & Harrison. Mr. Muller has also served as the co-chair of the ABA Joint Subcommittee on Electronic Financial Services and the chair of the CA Bar Association Financial Institutions Committee. He received his J.D. from Harvard Law School and his B.A. from the University of Virginia.
Patrick Murck
Patrick Murck is a fellow at Berkman Center for Internet & Society at Harvard University. Mr. Murck is a lawyer and expert on bitcoin and blockchain-based technologies. He conducts research into the law and policy implications of bitcoin, distributed ledgers, and smart contracts. Previously, Mr. Murck was a Co-Founder of the Bitcoin Foundation, where he served as General Counsel and Executive Director. He was named among America's 50 Outstanding General Counsel for 2014 by the National Law Journal. Mr. Murck serves as President and Member of the Board of Directors of the BitGive Foundation charity. He earned his J.D. with honors from the Catholic University of America Columbus School of Law and his B.A. from American University.

Scott Robinson
Scott Robinson is the founder and VP of Plug and Play FinTech, the financial technology focused startup innovation platform in partnership with BNP Paribas, Santander, Credit Suisse, Deutsche Bank, TD Bank, Sberbank, USAA, Mitsubishi, Capital One, Sumitomo, Intuit and many more global financial institutions. Since the launch of the program in February 2015, Scott and his team have accelerated over 90 FinTech startups and has led numerous investments into the domain. Scott has worked with Plug and Play, a global startup accelerator headquartered in Silicon Valley, for the past three years managing a number of FinTech, Blockchain, and Bitcoin-related initiatives.

Kevin Petrasic
Kevin Petrasic is a Partner at White & Case. As the head of the firm’s Global Financial Institutions Advisory practice, he advises domestic and international financial services firms on a wide array of issues arising under federal and state banking laws, as well as issues within the jurisdiction of the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau. Mr. Petrasic has broad government experience, having served as Special Counsel, Managing Director External Affairs, Director of Congressional Affairs, Legislative Counsel, and Assistant Chief Counsel at the U.S. Treasury Department’s Office of Thrift Supervision and Counsel to the former U.S. House Banking Committee. He received his J.D. from Catholic University of America, Columbus School of Law and his B.A. from the University of Delaware.

Patrick Pinschmidt
Patrick Pinschmidt served as the Deputy Assistant Secretary and the Executive Director of the Financial Stability Oversight Council at the U.S. Department of Treasury. Prior to joining the Treasury, Mr. Pinschmidt served on the Congressional Oversight Panel on the Troubled Asset Relief Program (TARP) as a Financial markets Policy Advisor. He also brings private sector experience, having worked at Morgan Stanley as a Senior Broker and Exchange Analyst and at Merrill Lynch as a Senior Online Broker and Market Structure Analyst. Mr. Pinschmidt earned his MBA from Columbia University’s Graduate School of Business and his B.A. from Georgetown University’s School of Foreign Service.

Obrea Poindexter
Obrea Poindexter is a Partner at Morrison & Foerster LLP. With a practice focus on financial services regulation, she serves as co-chair of the Financial Services Practice Group, co-chair of the FinTech group, and heads the firm’s mobile payments group. Ms. Poindexter’s practice offers financial institution clients a critical combination of bank regulatory expertise and a deep understanding of financial markets. Prior to joining Morrison & Foerster, Ms. Poindexter was a staff attorney at the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System in the Division of Consumer and Community Affairs, where she focused on issues relating to electronic banking, privacy, and consumer lending and leasing. She received her J.D. from Georgetown University Law Center and her B.A. from Howard University.

Neil Ruiz
Neil Ruiz is the Executive Director of the Center for Law, Economics, and Finance at The George Washington University Law School. Dr. Ruiz is an internationally recognized expert on the political economy of the global race for talent, skills, and labor. He has spent the past decade as a think tank scholar at The Brookings Institution, a migration specialist at The World Bank, a consultant for the Asian Development Bank, and teaching fellow at Harvard University. His research focuses on policy issues related to entrepreneurship, international migration, innovation, and regional and state economic development. His studies have been widely cited in media outlets such as The Wall Street Journal, New York Times, The Economist, Financial Times, and CNN. He also has experience working in the startup and entrepreneurship sectors. Dr. Ruiz holds a PhD in political economy from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT), an MSc in Economic History from University of Oxford, and a BA in political science with high honors and Phi Beta Kappa from the University of California, Berkeley.
Laura Shin
Laura Shin is a freelance writer who has been published in the New York Times, The Wall Street Journal, The Los Angeles Times, and others. She is also a regular contributor to Forbes, the author of the Forbes ebook “The Millennial Game Plan: Career and Money Secrets to Succeed in Today’s World,” the host of the Forbes podcast “Unchains: Big Ideas From The Worlds of Blockchain and Fintech,” and the co-lead reporter on the Forbes FinTech 50 list. Ms. Shin has won the 2016 Blockchain Award for Most Insightful Journalist. She often speaks and moderates panels at conferences or webcasts on the subjects of blockchain, digital currencies, FinTech, and others. She received her M.A. from Columbia University, and her B.A. from Stanford University.

Heather Somerville
Heather Somerville is a Technology Reporter at Thomson Reuters, covering startups and the venture capital industry. Ms. Somerville was previously a Staff Writer for the San Jose Mercury News and the Fresno Bee, covering national security, politics, education, the environment, and immigration. Her work has also appeared in The Washington Post, The Charlotte Observer, The Denver Post, The Seattle Times, The Huffington Post, Bloomberg Businessweek, and others. She is the recipient of the California Health Journalism Fellowship, the Medill National Security Journalism Initiative, and the Berlin Capital Journalism Fulbright. She received her M.S. from Northwestern University Medill School of Journalism, and her B.A. from Colorado State University.

Dana V. Syracuse
Dana Syracuse is Counsel at BuckleySandler LLP, focusing on regulatory, compliance, and enforcement issues surrounding digital commerce, virtual currencies, payments, privacy and data risk, money transmitters, and marketplace lending. Prior to joining BuckleySandler, Mr. Syracuse served as Associate General Counsel at the New York Department of Financial Service (NYDFS), overseeing the NYDFS’s strategy regarding emerging payment systems, virtual currency, and blockchain technology. He worked extensively with other states, with organizations such as the Conference of State Bank Supervisors, to develop state and federal regulations and standards on emerging FinTech Issues. Previously, he has also served as an Assistant Attorney General at the Taxpayer Protection Division in the Office of the New York State Attorney General. He received his J.D. from Brooklyn Law School and his B.S. from New York University.

Nathan Taylor
Nathan Taylor is a Partner at Morrison & Foerster LLP. His practice focuses on assisting clients in managing consumer information and developing practices to comply with complex privacy and information security laws. Mr. Taylor has a special emphasis on financial privacy and related issues impacting financial institutions at a federal and state level. He is a co-author of the leading financial privacy treatise, The Law of Financial Privacy, and a contributing author of the book Global Employee Privacy and Data Security Law. Mr. Taylor also contributes to the development of the firm’s Privacy Library and MoFoNotes subscription database. He received his J.D. from the University of Virginia School of Law, and his B.S. and B.A. from Georgetown University.

Bruce Wallace
Bruce Wallace is the Chief Digital Officer at SVB Financial Group and is responsible for their clients’ digital banking experience and channel delivery services, delivery of fee-based products (including payments, cash management, cards, merchant services, foreign exchange, and global treasury services), sales, and development. Previously, Mr. Wallace was the Chief Operations Officer for SVB responsible for Global Operations and IT, and a Senior Vice President and Manager of Wells Fargo’s treasury management operations. He is currently a member of the strategic advisory boards for FTV Capital and the FinTech Sandbox. He received his B.S. from California State University - Sacramento.

Rachel Witkowski
Rachel Witkowski is a Reporter for The Wall Street Journal. Prior to joining WSJ, Ms. Witkowski was a community banking reporter at American Banker, where she covered the CFPB, OCC, Treasury Department, and banks under $20 billion in assets specializing in the Southeast and California. She also worked at the Jacksonville Business Journal covering banks, insurance services, and public companies in Northeast Florida. She received her B.S. from the University of North Florida.

Scott Wyckoff
Scott Wyckoff was appointed general counsel for the California Department of Business Oversight by the Governor in August 2014. Before his appointment, Scott served as supervising deputy attorney general at the California Office of the Attorney General since 2008 in the Employment section. He also served as a deputy attorney general from 1999 to 2008 working in both the Employment and Tort and Condemnation sections. Scott also was an associate attorney at Cuneo Black Ward and Missler from 1998 to 1999. Scott currently serves on the board of directors for the Sacramento Law Foundation’s Operation Protect and Defend program.
The Center for Law, Economics and Finance

The Center for Law, Economics, and Finance (C-LEAF) at GW Law School is a think tank in Washington, DC that serves as a focal point for the study of issues in economic policy, financial law, and entrepreneurship. The Center provides independent and practical policy solutions by considering diverse perspectives from academia, Wall Street, Main Street and Washington. C-LEAF seeks to work directly with public and private sector leaders in government to develop innovative ideas on the American legal and economic system.

For more information, please contact:
Neil Ruiz – neirluis@law.gwu.edu

Neil Ruiz
Executive Director,
GW Center for Law, Economics and Finance

http://www.law.gwu.edu/FINTECH
Plug and Play Fintech

Plug and Play Fintech is a globally acclaimed innovation platform connecting the largest financial institutions in the world with some of the most innovative entrepreneurs in the domain.

A few of our partners and notable fintech investments:

For more information, please contact: Scott Robinson – scott@pnptc.com

Scott Robinson
VP & Founder,
Plug and Play Fintech

http://www.plugandplaytechcenter.com/fintech